TWO VESSELS TO DIP IN DELAWARE SUNDAY

New Jersey and Pennsylvania Yards Will Launch Record-Making Ships

There will be two launchings at the New Jersey and Pennsylvania shipyards at Gloucester tomorrow morning. At 10 o'clock the 6000-ton cargo steamer Castle Point will be launched sideways into the Delaware River from the New Jersey plant. It will be the first launching at that plant.

A half hour later the Pennsylvania yard will launch the mine sweeper Thrush. The two launchings are scheduled to be informal.

Officials and employees of the New Jersey yard are elated because their vessel is going overboard fifteen days in advance of the scheduled time. The keel of the Castle Point was laid on May 18 last, and it was figured then that the hull would be launched about the 1st of October.

The vessel is 321 feet 9 inches in length, beam 48 feet 10 inches and depth 24 feet 9 inches. It is equipped with a triple expansion engine of 1650 horsepower.

The mine sweeper Thrush will be launched from a small ways in front of the wharf at the Pennsylvania yard, where a similar vessel was launched two months ago. It is 186 feet in length.

AMUSEMENTS HEAVILY TAXED BY THE NEW REVENUE BILL

Patrons of Theatres, Operas and Movies Must Pay Nearly Twice the War Levy That Now Obtains—Children Alone Escape Increase

ARTICLE III

Staff Correspondent Evening Public Ledger, Washington, Sept. 13.

In carrying out the general plan to tax luxuries and semi-luxuries, war profits and inflated incomes and leave necessities unbundled, the new war tax bill lays a heavy hand on amusements.

The tax on admissions to theatres, movies and operas, and on club dues and initiations will be approximately double the rates now in effect.

One hundred million dollars will be raised for war expenses from this source during the year beginning November 1, 1918 when the new taxes on admissions and dues go into effect, it is estimated by the Treasury Department, compared with $50,000,000 which this levy produced for the last year.

Children Escape Increase

If there is a touch of tenderness in the whole bill, and such a thing would appear to be out of place in a war tax law, the bill provides that a tax of but one cent shall be charged for admission of children under twelve years of age to amusements, regardless of the amount paid for admission. This is plainly a generosity to the wage-earner who, without an automobile or a taste for opera and expensive plays, takes membership in an exclusive club, taking the wife and several children to the "movies" almost nightly as their only amusement.

Soldiers, sailors and marines in United States uniform are exempted from paying admission taxes where they are admitted free by the proprietor.

The new tax bill places the levy on amusement admissions at two cents on each ten cents or fraction thereof charged for such admission. The present rate is one cent.

Admission to the five-cent movie and rides on roller coasters, carousels, loop-the-loops, dips, Ferris wheels, etc., at outdoor parks, and admission charged to outdoor parks, the maximum charge for which is ten cents, which have escaped taxation heretofore, will now contribute their share to the war expense by paying one cent tax where the charge is seven cents or less.

All persons, except employes, municipal officers on business and children under twelve, who for any reason are admitted free or at reduced rates to any general amusement, must pay for each ten-cent tax where the charge is seven cents or less.
